

Features

The Toshiba Airclean System is a hybrid deodorization and smoke separating system, using two technologies "discharge-type optical catalyst deodorization" and "needle discharge collection" that are attuned to both people and the environment.

The system can handle your "air pollution" problems, and provide a high-quality, comfortable environment.

Names of components

